We had an AWE-SOME time at the fair!! We visited all the animals as well as looked at our 4-H projects. Many of the kids took home blue awards. GREAT work LYNC!!! I have to say that I am very proud of the kids. I received many comments on how respectful our kids were. They used their manners saying "Please and Thank You".

Some business matters: I would like to thank all the kids for being patient when we moved out of our building for a funeral dinner. Change is very hard, but the kids were real troopers. We had a special swim day for some as well as a service project for another. Thanks once again!!!

What's Up at LYNC This Week?

This week we focused on the big, bad, nasty "R" word—revenge. The kids realized that revenge can really destroy you if you choose to let it. The kids discussed how you can respond to revenge in a Biblical way rather than just taking it out on the other person. Praying for your enemies is very hard—even for grown up people. It was really great how the kids decided to give up revenge and let God take care of it for them. Wouldn't it be great if we, as adults, could give up things to God that were controlling us? I pray every day that the things of the world will not tarnish the childlike faith that some kids have. I, as an adult, want to embrace that and worship without reservation and not be ashamed to worship our Lord and savior, Jesus Christ. The love that these kids have for humanity and people is something that we should be learning as adults. Kids can really indicate to us where we need to improve on our lives. The kids have shown me about forgiveness and how that forgiveness is really for us and not for the other person. Some of these kids have really big things to forgive also. I would hope that all of us could pray for these kids—every day.

Group One had a great time this week making friendship bracelets. They decided that they were not going to be bullies, but they were going to be friends instead. We had a lot of activity going on with swimming and our fair visit. We are kind of tired this week!!!

Group Two was very lucky to get TWO swim days this week. We are well on our way to earning another party this week. We have been working very hard on getting team points so we can have that party too!!! We also got to meet Miss Danielle's good friend, Miss Rosie, when she helped us when we went to the fair! We like Miss Rosie!!

Group Three got to have donuts for earning the quiet award for the 3rd time. Way to go group 3!!! We also learned about mercy along with revenge. We made mercy posters and played hot seat to learn how to show mercy. We had a Spanish Fiesta on Tuesday and learned that a piñata can be a box with duct tape! Our group knows every BMV for the entire summer and earned ice cream for knowing it!!!

Group Four is beginning to learn the service aspect of being a Christian. This week they completed their service project by visiting and helping out at RETA. The kids are beginning to experience that not everyone is as fortunate as they are. Some realized that they actually have so much more than they thought they did. They are very fortunate to be in families that loved them enough to send them to LYNC for the summer. They were actually glad that they came to LYNC this summer. Some kids are really beginning to understand the love of Jesus.
